Day 3 (Sunday): Chula Manee Temple - Amphawa Floating Market (B/L/D)

Breakfast at hotel

Depart from Suang Phueng to Amphawa (It takes around 2 hours to travel)

Will proceed to visit The Famous Maeklong Railway Market

This market has everything that we've come to know and love in Thai markets. Its stalls have displays of fruits, veggies, meats, seafood, as well as sweet snacks, clothing, and flowers.

A charming little warning bell goes off over the speaker system just a few minutes before the train comes. Within a few minutes of receiving the warning, vendors pull back their specially designed awnings before the train comes, sometimes only moments before. That's why the market is locally known as the "Talat Rom Hoop" which translates into

"Market Umbrella Close."

Once the train passed, the vendors immediately, and quite nonchalantly we might add, put the awnings back into their original places. Everyone went back to normal as if nothing extraordinary had ever happened and it's hard to believe that tons of metal just rumbled its way through.

Drop lunch at Ranjuan Amphawa restaurant: Thai Mixed Seafood Menu

After lunch, visit Chula Manee Temple

Chula Manee Temple is an ancient temple located on the canal-side where the Amphawa Canal converges with the Phi Lok Canal. The temple was built in the Ayutthaya period during the late reign of King Prasatthong. Highlight of Chula Manee Temple is beautiful Thai traditional mural painting in the main hall, gold leaf painting art in Thai traditional house of the abbot.

After that, explore Amphawa Floating Market, where you will see many of the paddle boat selling Thai traditional food by the canal.
